W. P. WALTON.

The Funniest Thing on Record.

During an excursion from Pittsburgh, while at Cleveland the Kennard House was crowded, when a druggist appeared late at night at the hotel office and demanded a bed. The clerk replied that there were only two vacant beds in the house, one where-in was quartered a Pittsburgh morning newspaper man, and the other a Pittsburgh evening newspaper man, who were with the excursion.

"To tell the truth, they are both pretty drunk; so you may take your choice as to which room you will sleep in."

The druggist said he would take his chances with the evening newspaper man, as he would doubtless be so drunk that he would lie quiet all night. He went to bed, and was soon sound asleep. The journalist, however, awakened about 12 o'clock, and, thinking it a long time between drinks, dressed himself, unconsciously in the druggist's clothes, and called out. Ever and anon he muttered as he treated all present: "Funniest thing I ever heard of. When I went to bed last night I only had twenty-five cents to my name, and now I've got over $100 (showing a compunctious roll of bills), and I'm bound to spend every cent of it before morning." He did.—[Pittsburgh Post.]

An Old Man Like An Old Wagon.

A medical man compares an old man to an old wagon. With light loading and careful usage it will last for years, but one heavy load or sudden strain will break it and ruin it forever. Many people reach the age of fifty or sixty or seventy measurably free from most of the pains and infirmities of age, cheery in heart and sound in health, ripe in wisdom and experience, with sympathies mellowed by age, and with reasonable powers and opportunities for continued usefulness in the world for a considerable time. Let such persons be thankful, but let them also be careful. An old constitution is like an old bone—broken with ease, mended with difficulty. A young tree bends to the gale; an old one snaps and falls before the blast. A single hard lift, an hour of heating work, an evening of exposure to rain or damp, a severe chill, an excess of food, the unusual indulgence of an appetite or passion, a sudden fit of anger, an improper dose of medicine—any of these or similar things may cut off a valuable life in an hour, and leave the fair hopes of usefulness and enjoyment but a shambles wreck.

Tobacco Cure.

Mr. W. H. Curtis, of Hominy, informs us that for some year he has been subject to the most violent attacks of neuralgia in the head, at times almost driving him mad. A few days ago he had another attack, which if anything, was more severe than any previous, and it lasted several days and nights. His remedy was quinine in heavy doses, which he again tried, but as soon as the effect of quinine was off his pain returned seemingly with increased intensity. Finally recollecting what he had seen in the Citizen something relative to Clingman's Tobacco Cure, he got him a few leaves, dipped them in hot water, and bandaged his head with them and in ten minutes was entirely relieved, slept well all night, and has not felt the slightest touch of pain since. He is naturally very happy over the trial and its result, and a firm believer in the efficacy of tobacco as a curative agent.—[Asheville (N. C.) Citizen.]

A New Orleans doctor calls attention to a very simple fact which merits attention from medicine takers. If the medicine is mixed with very cold water, and a few swallow of the water be taken as a preparatory dose, the nerves of the organ of taste become sufficiently benumbed to make the medicine nearly tasteless. The method will not disguise bitter tastes, but acts well in oils and salines.

A New York physician claims to have discovered that deafness generally has its origin in the mouth, instead of in the ears, as most people suppose. He thinks it is often caused by various, crowded and displaced teeth, and he has a collection of about five hundred casts of the interior of the mouth, which, he alleges, go to prove his assertion.

Moustaches on clergymen's faces are condemned by the Rev. Dr. Samuel H. Gridley. To give potency to the voice of the pulpit, the lips should be uncovered. If the ox that treadeth out the corn, should not be muzzled, he submits that the mouth should enjoy equal freedom in the preacher.

Statistics show that both in Europe and America scarlet fever is more destructive of life than cholera.

DR. BOSANKO.

This name has become so familiar with the most of people throughout the United States that it is hardly necessary to state that he is the originator of the great Dr. Bosanko's Cough and Lung Syrup, the people's favorite remedy, wherever known, for Coughs, Colds, Consumption and all affections of the Throat and Lungs. Price 50 cents and $1.00 sold by McRoberts & Stagg.

GARRARD COUNTY DEPARTMENT.

Lancaster.

—Master Sam B. Harris gave an oyster supper to a party of friends Saturday night.

—A light snow fall Sunday night painted the town white for awhile and made sleighing good Monday.

—The many smiling faces Saturday indicated that a great many valentines had been received.

—The colored people held an indignation meeting at the court-house Saturday night at which they protested against the lawlessness of their race and appointed special policemen for "Battle Row" and "Duncantown."

—Duncan Ross, the celebrated athlete, tried to intimidate John Marrs, the clerk at the Fifth Avenue Hotel at Louisville the other day but was compelled to "crawl" when John showed a pistol down in his face. John is a Lancaster boy and not likely to be bulldozed.

—The hop given by the German Club at their hall last Friday evening was well attended and a success in every way. Wolf & Trost furnished the delightful music they are so noted for and the "lads and lassies" kept the dancing up until 3 o'clock Saturday morning. The strangers present were: Mrs. Will B. Robinson, Misses Sallie McRoberts, Sophie and Sallie Bright, of Danville, and Misses Jessie Hemphill and Mary Annie Wilmore, of Nicholasville.

—Misses Mary Annie Wilmore and Jessie Hemphill, of Nicholasville, were visiting Miss Mamie Olds last week. Miss Sallie B. McRoberts, of Danville, was visiting Miss Bertie Collier, Friday. Miss Scott, of Jessamine county, is a guest of Miss Lizzie Mason. Miss Lillie Noel has returned from Nashville. Miss Lulu Sandusky returned to her home at Windom, Ky. Sunday. Sam M. Anderson and O. H. Irvine of Louisville, are visiting relatives at this place. Col. W. S. Miller and Mr. J. J. Walker went to Louisville Monday. Hugh Logan, of Cincinnati, is home for a few days.

Buggy Riding Made Easy.

A Williamsport genius claims to have invented a buggy that, like the boy's whistle, goes itself. That is, it doesn't require a horse to make it go. It is furnished with two upright levers in front of the seat, by means of which the rider can propel it with great ease six or seven miles an hour. If he has a feminine partner, he can use one lever and she the other. If the weather and scenery is delightful, the riders can be as deliberate as they please. They can stop to rest, if they want to, under a big shade tree without being compelled to pull at the bit of an impatient horse or make themselves hoarse shouting "whoa" to him. The new buggy won't scare and run away, wrecking itself and ruining the features and finery of its fair occupant. And there is no horse with eyes to see and give away any trifling imperfections that may be indulged in. As to cheapness, the new buggy doesn't eat, doesn't have to be rubbed down four times a day, doesn't want a new set of blankets every fall, and new harness and whip once a year. In short, the cost of the buggy, which is about that of a modern bicycle, is all the outlay required.

It is evident from this description that the Williamsport invention fills a long-felt want. When the new buggy has become popularized everybody will ride, of course, and lively stable keepers with their vexatious bills will go out of fashion. Romeo and Juliet, as they take their daily drive in the park, each working a lever of the new vehicle, will be taking practical lessons in the art of working in matrimonial harmony. If any would be Juliet should prove too lazy to work her lever, Romeo would understand at once that he had better be looking for a new Juliet with a more industrious turn of mind. The ordinary riders will ride for pleasure and go as slow or as fast as their muscles and surplus energy dictate, instead of feeling compelled, as now, to drive like Jehu in order to get their money's worth out of a hired horse or team.

The only drawback to this delightful picture of a possible era in which everybody can take buggy rides to his heart's content, is the fact that the inventor has only perfected one of these self-acting buggies and charges an admission fee of 25 cents to all who want to see it.—[Philadelphia Times.]

—A. J. Hansford, a young man living at Barren Fork, Pulaski county, fatally shot Jim Mulaney, a notorious desperado. The affair occurred while a dance was in progress at Hansford's house. He claims the shooting was in self defense. Mulaney was a notorious character, being fresh from the penitentiary for the killing of Wm. Durham in 1881. He has nine brothers, all except one equally hard as himself. At one time six of the brothers were serving sentences at Frankfort.

—The Versailles and Midway Railroad Company was organized last week and will at once commence the construction of a line from Versailles to Midway and Georgetown. The cost is estimated at $300,000. The board has been organized with Mr. W. Henry Graddy as President; Mr. Thos. J. Hays as Vice President, and Robert Wallace, Secretary.

—Narragansett Bay is frozen over from Newport to Providence, R. I.

Toys.

There is nothing too high for the aspirations of man's ingenuity, they say, and surely there is nothing too insignificant. How much ingenuity of hand and brain is yearly expended on toys, merely to please the imaginations of children? Insignificant indeed! Turn back to your own childhood and the delight you then felt at sight of the toy horse or the big rag doll with eyes and nose marked with a charcoal, and call it insignificant if you can. Ah, me! the big rag doll, how you loved it and took it to bed with you and trotted it up and down on your knee, and thought nothing was half so nice. To day your children carry something around clothed in dainty apparel, with pansy eyes staring wide and real hair done up in the most approved style. And such a wardrobe; morning, dinner and evening dresses of silk and lace, and you think of the old fashioned purple calico dress and brown cap that somebody's doll used to wear and get thoughtful. There is generally a grandmother now, as then, to make dolls dresses and spoil her pet grandchild. I feel sorry for little children who haven't a grandmother, especially on Christmas. Mother is too busy for such things, but grandmother is no, and renews her youth in her little "Polly," her namesake at her knee. How she loves that child, the withered old woman! How she would fain stretch out her old arms and ward off all sorrow from that young life, all disappointment, and strew there only flowers of happiness. The one prayer of her heart is: oh, let her be happy, Heavenly Father! Poor old grandmother! in her love and anxiety she forgets that the cross comes before, not after the crown. S.W.L.

TAKE CARE OF YOUR FRIENDS.—When I was a boy my mother used to say to me sometimes, "De Witt, you will be sorry for that when I am gone." And I remember just how she looked, sitting there with cap, and spectacles and the old bible in her lap and she never said a truer thing than that, for I have often been sorry since. While we have our friends with us we say unguarded things that wound the feelings of those to whom we ought to give nothing but kindness. After awhile some of our friends will be taken away from us and those who are left say: "Oh, if we could only get back those unkind words—those unkind words—if we could only recall them!" But you cannot get them back. You might how down over the grave of that loved one and cry, and cry, and cry. The white lips would make no answer. Take care of your friends while you have them. Shut up all those words that have a sting in them, in a dark cave from which they will never come forth. If you do not you will be sorry some day.—[Evangelist.]

When a Greek immigrant was searched in New York recently, he was found to be armed with a weapon which looked like a large ivory-handled jack knife. When examined a pistol hammer was discovered on one side. This, when pulled up, threw out a trigger on the other side. As soon as the pistol was discharged a four-inch blade ran out ready for use. It is supposed that the man got his ideas of life in this country from reading Chicago papers.

—Senator Hoar and representative Long peremptorily declined to attend the Harvard Club dinner and reunion at Wornley's Hotel, Wednesday night, on account of the exclusion of Richard Greener and another mulatto graduate by a formal vote of the club.

Landlady: "Did you like the turkey we had yesterday, Mr. Smith?" Mr. Smith: "Did I like him? Yes indeed; why, I loved him! I used to think when I was a little child that perhaps, after all, I should live the longest, and the thought made me sad."

The free translations of the "Arabian Nights" by Payoe sell for $250 each. They are said to be absolutely indecent in places. If they were pure and moral they would probably bring $5 apiece.

Scorpions when in great apparent danger suicide by stinging themselves. When young they live upon the back of their mother, eating her back until she expires.

There is trouble in the Congregational church at East New York over a Scotch deacon who, to help aid a church fair, consented to dance the Highland fling.

A Walking Skeleton.

Mr. E. Springer, of Mechanicville, Pa., writes, "I was afflicted with lung fever and abscess on lungs, and reduced to a walking skeleton. Got a free trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which did me so much good that I bought a dollar bottle. After using three bottles I found myself once more a man, completely restored to health, with a hearty appetite and again in the flesh of 48 pounds." —The saddlery and harness of Mr. F. J. M. Argo, deceased, will be sold out at prime cost.

—Chrisman & Ross have shipped 1,400,000 pounds of tobacco from this place, for which they have realized a good price.

—Mr. Editor, you are a little mistaken about the ground hog telling a lie. Judging from the weather we have had he must have told the truth.

—All those knowing themselves indebted to C. B. Eggleman will find it to their interest to come forward and settle as their accounts will be put in the hands of an officer.

—One of our citizens who invested in the lottery was made to feel happy by a bogus telegram the boys put up on him stating that he had drawn $1,000. Captain H. says he felt good for once in his life.

—It is daily expected that some little boys here will be killed by the cars. They are in the habit of jumping on the trains while they are switching and jumping from car to car. Their parents ought to look into the matter.

—Enoch Wearen has gone west to grow up with the country. Mrs. J. C. Gentry, Mr. Jim Gentry and Miss Lillie McClary, of Lincoln, are the guests of Mrs. C. Shumate. Mr. H. H. Gentry has gone to Dripping Springs to take charge of Mr. D. G. Slaughter's store at that place.

Judge Savage, Commonwealth's Attorney Kenner and Jacob Eamon, the committee appointed by the citizens of Ashland to visit Governor Knott and ask him not to commute the sentence of Wm. Neal, the last of the Ashland murderers, have returned home. They say that Gov. Knott assured them that he would not interfere with Neal's sentence; that five juries had pronounced him guilty after a patient hearing of the facts and that in the face of all this he could not and would not interfere in Neal's behalf. Neal will doubtless be executed February 27th.

Parson Wandoodle Baxter distinguished himself once more at the funeral of an aged colored man: "Our deceased brother was married four times during his life," said Wandoodle, "but only one of his widows was so fortunate as to be able to survive him long enough to be present on his death solemn occasion."

"What one Girl D'd" is the title of a story in an exchange. We haven't read it, but it is safe to wager that if she went to the rink and put on skates for the first time what she did was to sit down two or three times unexpectedly.—[Norristown Herald.]

The house in which Hon. Jeff Davis was born, at Fairview, Kentucky, was recently sold to Mr. T. J. Smith for $665. The homestead consisted of about eight acres. The rest of the farm was sold to different parties in lots of ten acres.—[Carlsale Mercury.]

Mrs. Dudley: You have been convicted of the crime of assault with intent to kill one O'Donovan Esq. The sentence of the Court is that you be removed hence to a shooting gallery, and there be kept at hard practice for three months.—[St. Louis Globe Democrat.]

According to reports an application of gun cotton has been made in such a manner that it will evidently supersede the use of steam for the purpose of light locomotion and driving small machinery.

Oil from Nature's Wells.

The skin on the head is kept soft and flexible by a secretion from the oil glands. When these are clogged the hair dries and falls out. Parker's Hair Balsam restores their action, restores the original color to the hair and makes it soft and glossy. It also eradicates dandruff. Not greasy, not dry, deliciously perfumed. Delightful for a lady's toilet table. The best of dressings. Preferable to all similar articles because of its superior cleanliness and purity.

CURE FOR PILES.

Piles are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, loins and lower part of the abdomen, causing the patient to suppose he has some affection of the kidneys or neighboring organs. These symptoms of indigestion are present, constipation, uneasiness of the stomach, etc. A medicine like perspiration, producing a very disagreeable itching, after getting warm, is a very common attendant. Blind, Bleeding and Itching Piles yield at once to the application of Dr. Bosanko's Pile Remedy, which acts directly upon the parts affected, absorbing the tumors, allaying the intense itching and affecting a permanent cure. Price 50 cents. Address the Dr. Bosanko Medicine Co., Piquette, Ohio. Sold by McRoberts & Stagg.

W. P. WALTON.

ALTHOUGH pretty fairly posted as to newspaper men and affairs in the State, we have to confess that we had never heard of the Butler County News, published at Morgantown, Ky., or its editor, Dr. J. W. Crowdon, until his recent disgraceful conduct towards a respectable lady, to whom while intoxicated he made the basest proposals in a hack at Bowling Green. We are glad to say that we do not know the individual and join the Breckenridge News in regretting that one member should cast so foul a stain upon our profession. The only punishment that we can inflict upon the recalcitrant is ostracism. Let him be expelled from our State Association, and let every paper in the State drop him from its exchange list. Of course, if the young lady he so foully insulted has a father or a brother with a spark of Kentucky manhood in him, the scoundrel will be dealt with in a much more summary and satisfactory manner.

The Louisville Times suggests that after the forced retirement of John D. White, we can have all the fun we are looking for with Col. Smeers, of the Post, who is a man after John D's own heart. We don't believe it. Col. Smeers like Johnnie is a genuine crank, but their methods are entirely dissimilar. One is the low comedian of the play, the other the villain. There is nothing mean about Johnnie. If we are to judge him by his vituperative writings, we should say there is something very mean about Col. Smeers. No, no, there is no fun in the Col. He is all bile, yea, the most bilious of bile.

A CORRESPONDENT of the New York Sun at Washington professes to have found out that President Cleveland after receiving three refusals from Mr. Randall to accept the Treasury portfolio, has decided to appoint Daniel Manning Secretary of the Treasury. Mr. Bayard will be Secretary of State, but further this astute individual deposes not. Well, it's only two weeks before we will all know who will be the cabinet officers, and life is too short for us to worry much over it. Besides we are willing for Mr. Cleveland to select his own cabinet. He is not in the habit of making mistakes.

We overlooked the item announcing the advent of a son and heir to that valuable property, the Nelson Record, and if it is not too late we would like to extend our congratulations to Brother and Sister Murray. We thought there was an unusual brightness in Bro. Murray's writings of late, but could not imagine why Sister Murray had ceased to enlighten the paper with her excellent serial stories. It is all explained now. A baby is about the surest thing in the world to knock the romance out of a person and feeding catnip does not comport with love story writing.

AN infamous scoundrel, unworthy of the name of man, hired a dashing drummer to put his wife in a compromising position, so that he could secure a divorce from her, but when the case was called the drummer gave it away by relating what had passed between him and the husband. The vile plotter against his wife's honor was cast into jail from which a mob should take him out and slowly roast his dirty carcass till he dies. And it would be done had such a case developed any where else but in Ohio and in the sweet city of Cleveland.

It is impertinence avails anything McDonnell will hold a place in Cleveland's cabinet. Senator Voorhees and Representative Long, of Indiana, have been to Albany to present the petition of 25 members of the Senate asking that he be made Secretary of the Treasury, but the coming president was as silent as a mouse as to his intentions. Old Saddle Bag is a good man and deserves to be saved from his friends, who in their urgency, are making him ridiculous.

THOMAS BUFORD, who murdered Judge Elliott, of the Court of Appeals in the Spring of 1879, for which it was the general belief he ought to have been hung instead of packed off to an asylum, died at Anchorage Friday. He was a brother of Gen. Abe Buford, who committed suicide last year, and like him was quite wealthy at one time. A feeling of relief will be generally felt to know that the noted criminal at last sleeps under the sod.

It is said that preacher's sons are worse than other people's and this promising young candidate for the gallows would seem to prove it. Tom McNamara, a 14-year-old son of a preacher at Lexington, was reprimanded by his father for drinking. He armed himself with four pistols and shot one of them at the bar-keeper who had told him, another at an officer who tried to arrest him, a third at his father and then fled.

It gives us pleasure to second the Somerset Telegraph's nomination of Hon. R. P. Jacobs, of Danville, for Appellate Judge to succeed Judge Pryor. An able jurist, an accomplished and high-toned gentleman, Mr. Jacobs would add dignity and weight to our highest tribunal and be a worthy successor of the distinguished Chief Justice who at present holds from this district.

The Tammany Chief, John Kelly, is said to be dangerously ill and that grave fears are entertained for his recovery. We entertain no such fears but are willing that the great disturber shall depart in peace.

The Three Forks Enterprise wants to see Louisville's reform Mayor, Booker Reed, elected Governor of Kentucky. The State needs such a man. The days of fossiliferous rule have lasted much too long.

THE Sunday Argus has been sold to a company, of which Capt. T. C. Tracie, an experienced newspaper man and spy writer, is said to be the head. The paper has been in hard lines lately but we hope it now on the road to a successful and paying business.

It is said that Gen. Grant has cancer of the tongue and that he is making preparations to join the innumerable caravan, by arranging his worldly affairs.

—The dedication of the Washington monument will take place on Saturday next, February 21, and not on Monday, the 23d, as many people think.

—Will Adams, aged twenty-six years, murdered his sweetheart, Tina Wilmouth, eighteen years of age, and then destroyed his own life at Shelbyville, Ky., Sunday.

—The Texas Legislature, after a hard struggle, finally enacted a law making it compulsory on heads of all departments to give at least half the clerical positions in the respective offices to females.

—A revised list of the dead and wounded, caused by the boiler explosion at Brazil, Ind., puts the number of dead at six, and twenty seven wounded, two or three of whom are regarded as fatally wounded.

—There was a small conflagration in the office of the Signal Service Bureau in Washington this week. A number of valuable records were destroyed. About this time look out for mysterious official fires in Washington City.

—Twenty eight maniacs were burned to death in the Blockley Asylum at Philadelphia and many others are missing. This is the third catastrophe of the kind this year, running the total of lunatics burned up to nearly a hundred in these death traps.

—Butler Mahone, son of the little Virginia repudiator, is under a $1,000 bond for shooting at a "J-nigger" whom he imagined in his drunken spree had insulted him. The "nigger" has brought a damage suit against him for $5,000 besides.

—Aaron Prater, a ring leader among Georgia moonshiners, and who was responsible for the recent killing of two Deputy United States Marshals, was arrested at Chattanooga. He was armed with a sixteen shooting rifle and a number of pistols.

—Wm. Howard Mills, of the Fourth Auditor's Office, charges Commissioner Evans with maladministration of office, violation of the laws pertaining to the conduct of the Civil Service, misappropriation of public property, and conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman.

—The Attorney General knows as much about laws as a quarryman knows about sculpture. The Clerk of the Court of Appeals is a drunkard, who has deserted his post of service. There isn't a dollar in the Treasury and the knaves who have systematically robbed the State for years are ready to steal the coppers from her eyes. Poor old Kentucky.—(Louisville Commercial.)

—In the Rowan Circuit Court, the jury in the case of William E. Garner, gave him a sentence of imprisonment for life. Garner was the Captain of a band of Regulators, who, on the night of November 23, went to the house of G. Hughes, an old man, took him out, beat him severely and shot him twice, from the effects of which he died in a half hour. They also whipped two sisters of Hughes', knocking them down with their fists and beating them over the heads with pistols. Two of the gang, turned State's evidence, and principally on their testimony a conviction was reached.

—Baltimore is agitated with a great social scandal. Mr. Eugene N. Belt, a wealthy liquor dealer, sixty years old, has sued his wife for divorce. She was formerly Mrs. Godfrey, a widow, who came into notoriety in Washington on account of a liaison between her and Congressman Acklen, of Louisiana. After that she retired from notice, and last October was married to her present husband. Recently they went to New Orleans and there she met Acklen again, when the old stories were revived, and Belt immediately returned to Baltimore and filed his suit.

—Miss Addie Armstrong, daughter of a State Senator, committed suicide in Cincinnati because of the fear that she was losing her sight.

—President Wright, of the Louisville Exposition, is getting out a population map which shows that there are 11,000,000 people within a radius of 200 miles of Louisville, while New York has but 7,000,000 and New Orleans but 2,000,000 within the same boundary.

MT. VERNON DEPARTMENT.

Managed by Jno. B. Fish.

—W. G. Hiatt and Tabitha Hiatt were married Saturday evening.

—John H. Williams left yesterday to attend the college at Mitchell, Ind.

—A very heavy sleet fell Sunday night. The ground was covered about 1 inch deep with ice Monday morning.

—The cold weather of last week brought about several weddings. The license issued averaged about two per day.

—Valentine day was scarcely noticed up here, fewer of the hideous caricatures being sent than was ever known before. Our home artists did some very good work.

—About 3 weeks ago a couple of men came into this county ostensibly on a peddling expedition, but in reality they were swindlers and knew who to strike. They traveled in an old spring wagon and had their goods with them. They first went to the sheriff and asked to look over his books to see what property Wiley Coffey gave in.

They found that he was all right and went on over to see him. Now Mr. Coffey is not the brightest man in our county and he "bit" readily. One of the men first offered to buy Mr. Coffey's farm, or 100 acres of it, for the purpose as he said of grazing 800 black sheep—a new breed just imported from England and the only ones in the United States. Coffey was to come to Lexington to make a deed to the land as it could be done cheaper over there where he had his lawyers employed than it could in Mt. Vernon where it would cost about $75 and to pay Mr. Coffey for his expenses in coming to Lexington he would give him a pair of the extraordinary black sheep and of course this was all agreed to. Then the other man began his work to sell Coffey some goods. He unpacked and showed them to C. and finally succeeded in selling about $40's worth to Coffey for $80 taking his note therefor. He then remembered that he was in a hurry to get home and wanted to leave the balance of his goods with Coffey until he came back and to make himself secure he desired Coffey to give him a note for $270 which was given not as the purchase price for the goods, but as security and when he came back he was to deliver the note and take the goods. A son of Mr. Coffey went to Lexington and to the address given and his man could not be found. This was very much of a surprise to him. Nothing more was heard from them until Friday when a man and woman arrived at this place and registered as J. M. Fisher, Fleming county, Ky, and Mrs. Lewis, Chicago. In a few minutes after their arrival the woman was out looking for the sheriff to see about the collection of the Coffey notes, claiming that she had bought them from L. Summerfield, a traveler for full value. The notes were examined and found to be apparently all right and were, so far as the form was concerned. She was told that the notes were obtained through fraud and that they were not worth a cent. Then she wanted to compromise the matter and would take $300 for the two notes. She could get no bids and finally the man offered to take $200 and then came down till he offered to give up the notes for the goods. This was agreed to and the goods were to be brought to town. He then said he had to go to Stanford, but would be back Monday or send a man to bring the notes and receive the goods, but no such man has put in his appearance yet and it is not likely that he will as the people are excited and might wreak vengeance on him. Fisher and the Lewis woman claimed to be innocent purchasers of the notes, but when a few gentle hints began to be thrown out to them as to what might be the consequences in this case they became very uneasy and were in a great hurry to be off. They purchased tickets to Junction City, but told several parties here that they were going to Stanford and left that as their address. [They have never shown up here. Ed.]

—The dedication of the Washington monument will take place on Saturday next, February 21, and not on Monday, the 23d, as many people think.

—Will Adams, aged twenty-six years, murdered his sweetheart, Tina Wilmouth, eighteen years of age, and then destroyed his own life at Shelbyville, Ky., Sunday.

—The Texas Legislature, after a hard struggle, finally enacted a law making it compulsory on heads of all departments to give at least half the clerical positions in the respective offices to females.

—A revised list of the dead and wounded, caused by the boiler explosion at Brazil, Ind., puts the number of dead at six, and twenty seven wounded, two or three of whom are regarded as fatally wounded.

—There was a small conflagration in the office of the Signal Service Bureau in Washington this week. A number of valuable records were destroyed. About this time look out for mysterious official fires in Washington City.

—Twenty eight maniacs were burned to death in the Blockley Asylum at Philadelphia and many others are missing. This is the third catastrophe of the kind this year, running the total of lunatics burned up to nearly a hundred in these death traps.

—Butler Mahone, son of the little Virginia repudiator, is under a $1,000 bond for shooting at a "J-nigger" whom he imagined in his drunken spree had insulted him. The "nigger" has brought a damage suit against him for $5,000 besides.

—Aaron Prater, a ring leader among Georgia moonshiners, and who was responsible for the recent killing of two Deputy United States Marshals, was arrested at Chattanooga. He was armed with a sixteen shooting rifle and a number of pistols.

—Wm. Howard Mills, of the Fourth Auditor's Office, charges Commissioner Evans with maladministration of office, violation of the laws pertaining to the conduct of the Civil Service, misappropriation of public property, and conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman.

—The Attorney General knows as much about laws as a quarryman knows about sculpture. The Clerk of the Court of Appeals is a drunkard, who has deserted his post of service. There isn't a dollar in the Treasury and the knaves who have systematically robbed the State for years are ready to steal the coppers from her eyes. Poor old Kentucky.—(Louisville Commercial.)

—In the Rowan Circuit Court, the jury in the case of William E. Garner, gave him a sentence of imprisonment for life. Garner was the Captain of a band of Regulators, who, on the night of November 23, went to the house of G. Hughes, an old man, took him out, beat him severely and shot him twice, from the effects of which he died in a half hour. They also whipped two sisters of Hughes', knocking them down with their fists and beating them over the heads with pistols. Two of the gang, turned State's evidence, and principally on their testimony a conviction was reached.

—Baltimore is agitated with a great social scandal. Mr. Eugene N. Belt, a wealthy liquor dealer, sixty years old, has sued his wife for divorce. She was formerly Mrs. Godfrey, a widow, who came into notoriety in Washington on account of a liaison between her and Congressman Acklen, of Louisiana. After that she retired from notice, and last October was married to her present husband. Recently they went to New Orleans and there she met Acklen again, when the old stories were revived, and Belt immediately returned to Baltimore and filed his suit.

ASSIGNMENT.—Walter G. Green, who had a small store at Moreland, this county, has made an assignment of his property, real and personal, including notes, accounts and goods, estimated at $800 in value to James W. Huston. His liabilities are $2,000 or more.

KERSEY'S COMBINATION will give two entertainments at Hustonville this week, Thursday and Friday nights. They will consist of comedy and minstrel performances and as Mr. Kersey has had seven years experience in the business he is able to insure a good show.

AN invention has been patented which will be of great service to young ladies learning to skate on the treacherous rollers. It consists of a rubber bustle and is worn where articles of that character usually adorn the female form divine. What is mostly needed though, is something that will break the force of the fall of the rash young man who ventures on the rollers. Girls are nearly always assisted by some strong arm, but the boys have to go it alone and usually they go it on some more vulnerable portion of their anatomy than their feet.

STONEWALL'S SISTER.—An old woman who gave her name as Mrs. Huffman, worked the sister of Gen. Stonewall Jackson racket very successfully here Sunday. She came to the St. Asaph Saturday night and next morning told a pitiful tale of how her husband had just died at Dallas, Texas; how he fought and bled for the Southern Confederacy; how after struggling with poverty for years, he had finally succumbed leaving her penniless and how she had suffered in her effort to reach her friends at Chattanooga. She stated that she was a full sister of old Stonewall and so enlisted the sympathies of a drummer, who was an ex-Confederate and a Virginian, that he raised a pony purse for her, starting the subscription with a liberal donation himself. Of course she was a fraud, but she was so refined and told her story with so much apparent truthfulness, that all who heard her, were forced to sympathize and assist her.

EVERYBODY in Stanford got a valentine.

FOR SALE.—Big lot of country oats for seed. Bright & Curran.

NICE lot of home-raised orchard grass for sale by Bright & Curran.

TEN nice shoats, averaging about 90 pounds, for sale. Apply to R. E. Barrow.

ANOTHER lot of Williams & Hoyt's children's shoes received this morning. Bruce & McRoberts.

My store is full of groceries of every description and must be sold. Bargains can be had by bringing the cash. S. S. Myers.

I AM daily receiving a splendid assortment of Spring suitings, which I would be glad to have my customers and the public call and examine. H. C. Ropley, The Tailor.

BURNED TO DEATH.—Mr. W. C. Perkins writes us from Palaski Station, Ky., that Mrs. William Grinstead was burned to death there last week. Her clothes caught fire, when she ran out of the house and they were burned off before assistance could reach her. Two girls were in the house quilting but were unable to do anything. Her husband is a clock repairer and was off at his business and none of her relatives knew of her terrible fate.

WE fear there is going to be a hitch in the creamery business after all. The Lebanon people claim that J. M. Brent & Co., sold them as much territory as they wished provided they would put their patent cans in all they claimed. After we had gotten everything ready to proceed they put them in this county and claimed it. If their statement is correct they can enjoy us from the use of the cans and if they do we will have to use some other patent. The officers have written to several other manufacturers and say they do not intend that the enterprise shall fall through.

BRIGHT.—A friend hands us the following items: V. W. Gentry has rented his farm to S. E. Owsley for $500 and will remove with his family to Covington, where they will make their future home.—S. M. Spoonamore bought 40 acres of land of Jim Eggleman at $45 per acre, cash.—S. E. Owsley rented 14 acres of land from E. L. Land for tobacco and bought 8 acres of him, on which to build cabins and tobacco houses.—Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Withers are visiting Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Spoonamore.—The wheat crop is looking badly in this neighborhood and the farmers fear that they will have to break up the land and put it in corn. This is more especially the case with late wheat.

A POLISHED THIEF.—A few weeks ago, a young fellow giving his name as William Vaughan and claiming Knoxville as his home, went to Mr. Greenberry Bright's and offered to work for his board till the weather opened. He took him on these terms and now he wishes that he hadn't, for when he got up Saturday morning he discovered that his watch and $20 were missing and that the young tramp was non est inventus also. Another hired man was dispatched to hunt for him and he was found making tracks for tall timber. The man succeeded in getting the watch and started back with Vaughan, but he gave him the slip and got off with the $20. The sheriff was notified and put on his track, but did not succeed in catching him. Vaughan is said to be a good looking fellow, well-behaved and apparently well-bred and is fully competent to take in the unwary.

ALTHOUGH there was no announcement of his appearance, the patrons of the Rink were treated to some extraordinarily fine, fancy skating by Mr. Matthew Woodson, Friday night. This gentleman is one of the most remarkable skaters of the day. He seems to skate with a much ease in one position as another, excepting always the perpendicular. First he would prouette on his head, next walk around on his nose, then he would set down like he was mad with the floor and again would strike out on all fours. But it is impossible to describe the antics of this, the most wonderful skater of the 19th century. He must be seen to be appreciated and that all may have a chance to behold him, the manager takes pleasure in announcing that he has at great cost secured him for another exhibition next Friday night. Come everybody and bring the children.

MARRIAGES.

—Col. F. W. Huskinson, of Somerset, was married at Chattanooga, to Miss Pattie Warn.

—On the 15th, Mr. David Moore, a widower, and Miss Malvira, daughter of Mrs. Sallie Morgan, were made one flesh.

—Mr. Urey Woodson, the handsome and sprightly editor of the Owensboro Messenger, has yielded at last to the blandishments of the fair sex and surrendered a willing victim to the charms of one of its fairest. He was married to Miss Bettie Ford, daughter of Capt. S. H. Ford, of Owensboro, Thursday last, and is now enjoying the sweets of the honeymoon at New Orleans. Our congratulations and very best wishes attend him and his.

—An Augusta, Ga. paper contains a notice of the marriage in that city of Mrs. Lulie C. Maye, formerly of Lexington, to Judge James S. Hook and adds that 'Mrs. Maye has made many friends among our people, who were attracted by her refinement and cultivation. She is a lady of rare literary and artistic accomplishments, and will be a congenial companion for Judge Hook, who is one of the most learned and eloquent members of the Augusta bar.' We are not personally acquainted with the lady, but she has been a subscriber to the INTERIOR JOURNAL for several years and we take much pleasure in informing her Kentucky friends of her happiness.

DEATHS.

—Judge M. T. Carpenter, one of the editors of the Shelbyville Sentinel and late State Senator, died Sunday in his 45th year. He was honest, upright and honorable and his good name will be a living monument to his memory.

—Of typhoid fever after eight long weeks of illness, the sweet spirit of Miss Eugenia Richards winged its flight from her suffering and emaciated body last Sunday morning as the church bells told of the worshiping hour. Miss Jennie was the second daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Thomas Richards and was known for her sweetness of disposition and amiability of character. But lately budded into charming young womanhood, she embodied all those graces which make that age so interesting and attractive. The picture of health and happiness, she seemed destined for a long life of usefulness, but the fell destroyer is no respecter of persons, save that he seems to love a shining mark, and in the morning of her bright young life he has laid his chilling hand upon the dear girl and all that was mortal of her now lies shrouded for the tomb. But there's consolation to the weeping friends and relatives, for

"Hope looks beyond this vale of tears,
 When what we now deplore,
 Shall rise in full immortal prime
 And bloom to fade no more."

This morning at 10 o'clock Eld. John Bell Gibson will hold a short service at her late home after which the remains will be taken to Lancaster and at 2 P. M. will be laid away in the cemetery there. We sympathize deeply with the family in their affliction and with that absent sister who has yet to learn of her irreparable loss. May God comfort them all.

RELIGIOUS.

—Rev. J. Bartlett, formerly pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Lexington, Ky., will be the pastor at Washington City of President Cleveland, who is the son of a Presbyterian minister and has a sister the wife of a Presbyterian missionary. Pastor Bartlett is a Republican.

—The Louisville papers say that the Faith Cure there wrought a miracle in the eleven-year old daughter of Mrs. John Moach, who was born deaf and dumb. Prayer and faith have restored both the lacking senses and three other similarly affected children of the same lady have been greatly benefited.

Are You Tired of Being Sick?

We want to say a word to the men, women and girls who work in stores, offices and factories. There are hundreds of thousands of you in the country. Very few of you are well. You are shut up too much and exercise too little. In this way you get sick. Your blood is bad, your digestion poor, your head often aches, you don't feel like work. Your liver, stomach and kidneys are out of order. Parker's Tonic has cured hundreds of such cases. It is pure, sure and pleasant.

PORTRAITS OF PROMINENT ONES.
Brief Biographical Sketches of Those Who

ALBERT FINK.
Mr. Fink, who has since June, 1877, occupied the arduous position of "commissioner of the trunk lines and chairman of the joint executive committee," sent in his resignation about six months since, the acceptance of which will probably result in a complete disruption of the pooling arrangement between the trunk lines and a return to the competition which existed before that arrangement. Mr. Fink was born in Germany in 1827, entered railway service in 1849, and has since accumulated a knowledge of railroad construction and management which is equalled by but few, having filled every position on a railroad from brakeman to president. His genial manner and acquaintance among railroad men, taken with his varied experience and desire to make "pooling," which had long been a favorite scheme of his, a success, renders it unlikely that his position will be ever successfully filled.

At the meeting of trunk line presidents on Feb. 6 the resignation of Mr. Fink was taken up, and though he insisted upon its acceptance, the meeting refused to accept it. It was, however, decided that Mr. Fink could go on a vacation and remain as long as he pleased.

The New Commissioner of Labor.

COL. CARROLL D. WRIGHT.
The recently appointed head of the new national bureau of labor statistics, Col. Wright, is undoubtedly the right man in the right place. As commissioner of the bureau of labor and industry of Massachusetts he has displayed the highest capacity, and his annual reports are models in their way of patient investigation and impartial performance. The data in regard to wages and profits of production which he has so carefully collected and arranged are accepted as authority everywhere. He has worked throughout for the mutual advantage of capital and labor, his operations throwing a light upon the problems involved in their relations, by which each gains a clearer understanding of its obligations to the other. According to The Boston Transcript, Col. Wright, in accepting the position of United States labor commissioner, does not necessarily vacate the important office he now holds. His understanding with the president is that he shall accept the office only for the purpose of organizing the national bureau of labor on the same basis as that of Massachusetts.

Sugar King of the Sandwich Islands.

CLAUS SPRECKELS.
The shooting of De Young by Adolph Spreckels, in San Francisco, brought into prominence the father of the latter, Claus Spreckels, commonly known as the "Sugar King of the Sandwich Islands," who wields a power more autocratic, if not greater, than that of any other monopolist in the world. Spreckels is a South German, born in Hanover, a man of small education, who came to this country about 1830, and started in the retail grocery business in Church street, New York. He went to California soon after the gold fever broke out, and at once engaged in the grocery business, transferring it to the hazards and hardships of mining. Everything which he touched seemed to turn to gold. Combining with several of his brothers who had come out to the coast, he bought a quarter interest in the Albany brewery in San Francisco for $40,000. This was the foundation of his present large fortune and commercial importance. After running the brewery a few years his keen business instincts saw in sugar-refining a far more profitable field of enterprise. The story of the conquest of the Sandwich Islands is a misapprehension, that he took advantage of the ignorance of a king who wanted money and that he works his coolies to death.

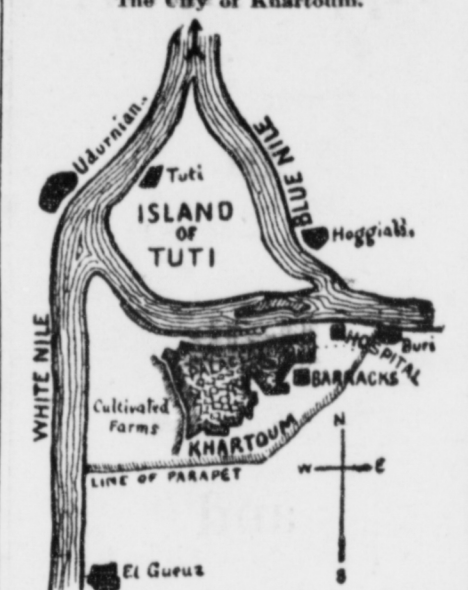

Of Spreckels' wealth it is impossible to form any accurate estimate, because much of his property is mortgaged, and it is understood the greater part of his fortune is embarked in the sugar business, which is apt to depreciate. He makes daily, the year round, however, 500 barrels of sugar. He makes a clear profit of $100,000 a year. He controls the entire sugar trade of the coast, which represents $10,000,000 a year. Down at Honolulu he puts on more the airs of an autocrat, and his course there lately has put him into disfavor with both the native and foreign population. Last January he loaned the

A Pacific Railroad Magnate.

C. P. HUNTINGTON.
Mr. Collis Potter Huntington was born some 65 years ago on a Connecticut farm, where every farm is blessed with stones enough to fence in the entire state. Though he has since risen to be more than fifty times a millionaire, and is an authority on "How to run a Congress," he began life as a boy on a farm. At 24 he was in partnership with his brother as a trader, and at 28 was a prosperous merchant in California. It was in 1850 that he first began to talk of the feasibility of a railroad over the Sierra Nevada mountains, which was afterwards consummated in the completion of the Central Pacific, over which Mr. Huntington was the controlling spirit and financier. He is still in active business life, expending his winters usually in Washington, overlooking the interests of the several corporations with the control of which he is still associated. His railroad system extends from San Francisco nearly to Mexico, thence across the desert and Texas to New Orleans. He has finished his railroad from Hampton roads to Memphis, and is thought to be the controlling spirit in the new railroad from Memphis to New Orleans. Therefore, he is the only American who controls a line from ocean to ocean.

Besides all this he owns the American line of steamers from New York to New Orleans, consisting of about thirty vessels. His present residence is in New York city.

MAP OF THE CITY AND SURROUNDINGS.
The city of Khartoum, toward which the eyes of the world have been and will be turned for some time to come, may be called the gate of Central Africa. European civilization enters at one side of the city and African barbarism comes in at the other. Beyond Khartoum from the north few tourists have ever made their way, and beyond Khartoum from the south few savages have ever ventured. From the south the Nubian sends his stores of ebony, ostrich feathers, ivory, skins of animals and other products of the equatorial lake district, while from the north the trader carries grain, cotton, gum, "Brummagem" knick-knacks and beads to feed and clothe the "savages pouring in the line." Among the 30,000 who make up its population there are many Greeks and Italians while two or three Americans furnish beads and other trumpery to the savages from Kordofan, El Beid and Da four. The traders sell canned fruits, meats and vegetables and make the Dongolove bowl through the streets after taking some of their raki as a refresher. Arabs in their bournas, Turk with the traditional fez, Copts with their bashe, and Birharren Arabs with their knotted and combined locks of hair, standing up like quills of the porcupine, wander through its irregular, narrow and badly drained streets. It is no wonder that Khartoum is unhealthy. When it rains, great pools of stagnant water are formed, and from these fevers are generated, and the deadly miasma does its work among the people.

VIEW OF THE CITY FROM THE HOSPITAL.
The street that borders the river side looks down upon the water from an elevation along which stately palm trees and large gardens of citron and orange trees stand. Many neatly whitewashed buildings stand along the river bank, and these are relieved by the minarets and mosques which give the place the air of a city in upper Egypt. There are, of course, the characteristic mud houses, the tropical foliage, the broad palms and the weeping domes, the helicalia hauled on the beach for repairs, the sacks of gum, the typies of ivory, and the stevedore population who brave crocodiles for their papyrus.

The palace of the governor is an ugly-looking building facing the river, and the helmeted and casqueted negroes who form the guard of honor are dressed in white uniforms. There is a good deal of complex scoundrelism in the city. It is the result of 50 years of the slave trade. This has attracted the worst class of the rogues who live on the Levant. For 400 miles south of Khartoum the white Nile is covered with rich cotton fields, which slope away from the banks of the river from five to 50 miles into the interior. The resources of the country are immense, and Khartoum is destined to play an important part in the development of the resources of Central Africa.

SHILOH'S CATARRH REMEDY, a positive cure for Catarrh, Dysphtheria and Canker Mouth. For sale by Penny & McAlister.

A Valentine.
[Puck.]
A Valentine to you, my love,
The urchin, Cupid, brings,
Overflowing with the longings of
The heart of him who sings,
Tis full of tenderness you'll find,
And very sentimental;
But, pray you, to its faults be blind,
And to its pleading, gentle.

Love lurks in every letter, true—
The day forgives the crime—
And then, remember, love, 'tis you
Who makes the rhymester rhyme.
So don't blame Cupid if I scrawl,
In fashion, strophography,
A sentence very sweet, and call
It "admirable taffy."

I know he wears a gauzy mask—
This strategy is mine,
Who am too timid, love, to ask
You—"Be my Valentine!"
But if your guesses fail to hit
My name, don't let that fret you!
If you'll be mine, that settles it!
I'll call around and get you!

Appropriate for St. Valentine's Day.

Hearing complaints that letter carriers have no uniform overcoat, and are not allowed, even in severe weather, to wear the top coat of civil life, our artist has designed a costume, which, if protection from the weather is not essential, would be, he thinks, fit and effective for St. Valentine's day.

Fun for a Newspaper Man.

[Detroit Free Press.]
During an excursion from Pittsburgh, while at Cleveland the Konrad house was crowded, when a druggist appeared late at night at the hotel office and demanded a bed. The clerk replied that there were only two vacant beds in the house, one wherein was quartered a Pittsburgh morning newspaper man and the other a Pittsburgh evening newspaper man, who were with the excursion.

"To tell the truth, they are both pretty drunk, so you may take your choice as to which room you will sleep in."
The druggist said he would take his chance with the evening newspaper man, and he would doubtless be so drunk that he would be quiet all night. He went to bed and was soon sound asleep. The journalist, however, awakened about 12 o'clock, and thinking it a long time between drinks, dressed himself unconsciously in the druggist's clothes and sallied out. Ever and anon he muttered as he treated all present:

"Funniest thing I ever heard of. When I went to bed last night I only had 25 cents to my name, and now I've got over $100 (showing a crumpled roll of bills), and I'm bound to spend every cent of it before morning." He did.

The Viper and the File. A Fable.

[John Kendrick.]
A rapacious Viper, being sadly in need of Sustenance, was wandering aimlessly about, one cool April afternoon, Seeking what he might devour, when he met an inviting looking File, upon which he resolved to feed.
"Go it, Vipe, old man," said the File; "you can have all the Juice you can get out of me, and Welcome; but I warn you to desist, as I am almost as Mortalicious as our cousin Cholera Germ!"
But the Viper, persisting in his reckless repast, Swallowed the File entire, and, Having done so, curled up his legs and died.

And no wonder. He had eaten a File of The Congressional Record.
